by Hayden Camp and

How odd it was to wake up to the alarm clock for the first time in months. To look outside and see it raining on the first day of one of the best years of your life. Is this an omen or what? Then catching the bus (or a ride), getting to school, and finding a new principal to govern your life and then squeezing through the seemingly endless crowds of people in hopes of getting to class on time. It seemed impossible! But the real question here is who ordered carpet for the library, new furniture in the office and a whole slew of other changes which made Herndon High School and the Herndon com- (continued on page 5)

Hot Summer Fun

by Kevin Lee

Students stay cool with annual trek to O.C.

Imagine yourself on waterskis, floating in the water and holding on to a rope tied to a speed boat. The engine in the boat has a maximum speed of over two-hundred horse power. You yell "Go", and you feel the tremendous force of the water pulling you back down. In spite of the rope's straining and tugging, you finally surface, proud of your accomplishment. Only now do you realize your swimming trunks are missing.

Obviously, this ordeal didn't happen to most people over the summer, but if you had tried to water ski, it might have. This is only one of the many experiences a student may go through during the summer. This short period of time is very important to every student. Whether it's water skiing or just swimming our students sure do know how to have fun in the sun.

The annual trek to Ocean City usually takes place early in June or the day after prom. Students go together and rent apartments, condos, or motel rooms and spend their days soaking up the rays and their nights partying.

After all, three months is the only time students have from one year to the next for recuperating from school. For some, this isn't just summer but an art practiced to perfection.

A familiar feeling for all

It was 5:45 A.M. The alarm rang. "Oh no, it's the beginning of the end of my days of sleeping late!" The daily routine started with a shower, brushing the teeth, blow drying the hair, and finding matching socks.

The weather the first day of school was a bad omen. Sarah El-sner, a junior, commented, "It was rainy and cloudy; the thunder was so loud and lightning was so bright I thought it was going to be the end of the world. I guess the weather is supposed to say something about the rest of the school year." Anyway, everyone got to their classes O.K.- even the freshmen. So the first day of school didn't start out so bad after all.

To build up the spirits of about 2,300 Hornets, we held a pep rally the second Friday of school. The cheerleaders cheered the familiar cheers of "Have You Got that Spirit?", "What!", and "Let me see you get down." The Drill Team performed for the first time for the year, with a spectacular eye-catching routine. Everyone showed their loyal spirit for Hemdon. But isn't that the purpose of a pep rally anyway?

The skate scene is more than a bunch of nuts crashing down a vert on a board with wheels at the speed of sound. Skating is Style. Style isn't the full-action-wear wardrobe and the upper lip sneer. Style is a backspin on a quarter as you put them in the soda machine.

Style is different things to different people. A Judo air to re-entry will draw more hoots than a picture perfect ramp routine. Street is another way to skate. Quarter pipes are almost the best thing to have fun on besides doing a variety of hand plants.

A skaters style is aloof, intense and dedicated to perfecting a stand out routine of rock and rolls, air and grinds, and hand plants. Most of all a skaters style is his own.

For most sophmores, juniors, and seniors, back to school was simply that: back to school. But if you were one of the 80 new students, that first day of school was even scarier than a freshman's. After all, what senior teacher was going to accept the excuse that you got lost?

Fads and Fashion

The styles change but students don't

by Mouna Ghabra

Nowadays it is hard to put a definition to the word fashion. People no longer dress in a set style or manner. "Every morning I dress how I feel rather than what I should wear", exclaimed Kristin Porstel. This gives her and many others a sense of their own individuality.

Many find that such clothes as white washed jeans, outback red, Britches, and Forenza are an extension of their personality. Others find different ways to express themselves.

One noticable difference from last year, deals with hairstyles. Girls began to emphasize longer hair. This was a different look from the short, cropped style reminiscent of the last few years. For guys flat tops were still in, but fewer guys were seen in the hallways wearing that particular style.

Backpacks were definitely the fad for this year. At one time people wore their backpacks only on one shoulder, however, wearing it on two shoulders was definitely a new look.

Midnight Masquerade

By Leslie Geiger

Who thought it would be necessary to keep a fire extinguisher in your bedroom? Jaqueline Blantnik wished she had one when her curling iron fell into a trash can and its contents caught on fire.

Ever thought about keeping a key under the doormat? Well, Anissa Bove probably does—climbing up a ladder through a window in her prom dress was a sure convincer.

Having the keys doesn't necessarily mean you have the car. Ask Jimmy Dean and his date Jen Clinger, who had their car towed while enjoying dinner in Georgetown, about 40 minutes away from where the dance was held.

The Prom, as tradition states was held by the junior class. The theme was Midnight Masquerade and was reflected by the giant masks on the wall. The music was preformed by Excalibur and held at the Ramada Renaissance near Dulles Airport.

The Prom countdown for the girl began when she went in search of a dress no one else was wearing only to arrive at the dance and see it on practically everyone else. For the guy it began with the search for a bow tie and cummerbund that matched his date's dress. When everything finally came together they marched down the driveway and heard the sound of the camera every step of the way, knowing that at least 7 rolls of film would be rushed to the one hour photo service. Although there is a lot of hassle involved, Prom is a night that is never forgotten.

A Friend for everyone

"When we see Shelli again our tears will be replaced with laughter, our pain with joy. Until then Shelli will remain in our hearts forever." Michelle Turner, known by many died in a car accident July 25, 1987.

As a well-known student, cheerleader, and friend, she was a stunning example of Herndon Pride. Her cheerful outlook and spirited dedication brightened the days for many. Whether she is remembered as a good friend or just someone with a pretty smile, Shelli will live in our hearts forever.

The reaction to Shelli's death was immediate and very emotional to those who knew her. An outpouring of affection for Shelli was extended to her family, which includes our cafeteria manager Mrs. Maxine Turner. Her parents remarked how friendly Shelli was and how much her friends meant to her. It is obvious, by the endless stream of friends who gathered to comfort one another at her house, Shelli was as special to us, as we were to her. In fact, at the funeral home, crowds were so large that one had to wait on a two hour line before entering. Although Shelli is no longer with us in a physical sense, her spirit and memory will live on and she will forever be a friend we will never forget.

by Todd Cerino

Five Herndon teams emerged as champions concluding their seasons at the district, regional, and state levels during the 86-87 school year. The teams began their string of district championships with the cross country team in the fall season. From there the track teams of both the indoor and the outdoor seasons captured district crowns. This was the first season ever that the Hornets completed "the sweep", that is, the teams captured district titles throughout all three running seasons. The boys gymnastics team had another excellent season, winning the state title. This title was the object of much controversy because the southern region has no established gymnastics program. In spite of this controversy the gymnastics team emerged triumphant and proved that they truly deserved the title champions.

The girls' basketball team also captured a district crown for themselves last year. In the deciding game the lady Hornets ousted the Madison girls for the championship. Coach Laura Beaver's team was led by Kerri Gilmore, Kelly Gilmore, and Kim Nagy, all whom were named to the all-district team.

We got Spirit

by Jon Cocks

Students celebrate homecoming week

Just another Monday in an ordinary week, right? Well how wrong can someone actually be? In this case all wrong. It wasn't just another week, it was "Spirit Week!" one of the most important weeks in the whole school year. It was the one chance students got to show everybody how much spirit they really had.

Even though the Freshmen and Sophmores didn't show much spirit, a few did dress up in their pj's and in all white. The Juniors and Seniors exploded with spirit, showing off all the interesting outfits they could find. The Junior class dressed up as "Hippies" while the Seniors dressed as "Hicks." Teachers weren't terribly concerned with the reeds of grass left in classes and a few such as Mrs. Gretchen Shook even joined in. Spirit Week ended on Friday as nearly everyone dressed in red, white and black in preparation for the big homecoming game we knew we would surely dominate.

During spirit week our girls participated in the traditional Powder Puff game on Tuesday night. The teams consisted of the Freshmen and Seniors who were pumped up and ready to play against the Sophmore and Junior team. Although the Freshmen/Senior team outnumbered their counterparts both teams played enthusiastically. It was the Freshman/Senior team that won the game by seven points, ending the game with a score of twenty-one to fourteen. The Senior team continued a tradition of winning which began when they first hit the field as Freshmen. Captains Stephanie Lucas and Lisa Freil after the game gave words to their Freshmen teammates inciting them to continue the tradition of "a four year victory." The next day several players agreed with sophomore Jessica Gomes who moaned, "I feel sooooo sore!"

Hornets Reverse Streak of Luck

The Herndon Hornets raised their record to 5-3 by defeating the McLean Highlanders in the annual Homecoming game. The victory followed the traditional ritual of the Homecoming parade before the game and was played before a large and spirited crowd of students, alumni and citizens of the town. The efforts put forth by the team proved successful and showed that the Highlanders were no match for our team. The offensive line opened up many holes for their running backs. John Bufford capitalized on this fact and gained 75 yards in the first half.

The Hornets lit up the scoreboard first with a touchdown by Warren Prisby on a 67 yard run. The team, hampered by turnovers, still managed to get another score on the board following a drive into opposing territory. This drive was ended in a second touchdown scored by Prisby. In addition to these scores the defense proved too solid for the Highlanders in the first half by shutting McLean's offense down allowing no first half points.

As the second half opened, the Highlander's defense recovered a Hornet fumble. The Hornets lead was cut from 14 to 6 after a 49 yard pass and a missed extra point.

The remainder of the game was owned by the Hornets. The third touchdown was scored by fullback Eddie Ortey from 1 yard out. Then, quarterback Warren Prisby scampered 45 yards around the right side leaving the McLean defenders behind. This run was concluded with Prisby in the endzone and produced the fourth touchdown of the day. The score remained at 28-6 until Prisby lofted a 43 yard pass that found an open Darryl Smith who carried the ball into the endzone. With the score at 36-6 the McLean Highlanders could only muster one more touchdown in the final minutes of play against the Hornets second string defense. The missed extra point, however, set the final score of the game at 35-12.

The Hornets advanced their season with another win under their belt and proved that they were back on top once again.

H omecoming: A Beautiful Day

by Dawn Lambert

Everyone waited anxiously as the band finished their half-time performance and the princesses began their walk onto the field. As tradition states the Homecoming Queen was elected by the members of her class yet none of the student body knew who the Queen was. As the names were read each girl held their fathers arm a little tighter in hopes of being chosen and each member of the student body had their fingers crossed in hopes their friend would be picked. As the name was read the crowd cheered Miss Jenny Battin on to accept her flowers and crown thus officially making her our Homecoming Queen.

At the dance, which was the last activity of homecoming, approximately 116 couples arrived in the foyer and listened to the first live band to have performed in these halls in ten years. The band as explained by the Student Government was brought in "in order to encourage more people to attend." The efforts of the Student Government proved successful and may indicate a return to the use of live bands at future dances.

Overlooking the possibility of terrorism eighteen adventurous students visited Europe. During the summer of 1987 one German and one Italian class from our school went to visit Germany and Italy. Everyone, including the teachers, enjoyed the stay. During their trip the students lived with a host family which had exchange students preparing to come to the United States. Each group visited many places including: Perugia, Spoleto, Rome and Bonn. Their flights lasted eight hours and they had a great time on their two week adventures. Everyone enjoyed the many new foods, the faces and places. For some people just plain sight-seeing and shopping were the highlights of the trip. David Segal, Italian teacher, remarked "I was amazed at how well our students adjusted quickly to new cultures and families and how quickly they formed wonderful new relationships." German teacher, Mrs. Judy Young thought, "Visiting the country was a greater learning experience than studying the country in a classroom."

All Hallow's Eve, Halloween pranks and trick or treaters running frantically getting all the candy and having fun. Was it you that got scared, or was it your little brother or sister in hokey masks? Had superstitions become reality for you? Black cats crossing your paths, or witches flying through the air on their broomsticks?

Halloween, a time to let your imagination soar. Nowhere was it more evident than the hallways in school. Although Halloween took place on a Saturday, students began celebrating by dressing up in costume on Friday in school. All of Susan Dean's teachers received a shock as she came dressed as Elvira, "mistress of the night." After all, costumes are what is most important during Halloween when it is a time for rational thinking to take a back seat and let imagination and fantasy rule.

Students work at Jobs

by Kim Newsom

A Job. At first it seemed quite simple. You filled out an application form, and they called you in for an interview. You dressed up in classy, dressy clothes to impress the manager, while crossing your fingers and acting like a perfect teenager, while praying they would accept you. You found out if you were hired or whether someone else had done a more impressive acting job than you. There are many reasons for getting a job, as there are jobs themselves. For most of us it involved having our own cash. Of course there were other reasons, car payments, clothes, etc. A job can be several things. It can mean volunteer work, at school or in the community. It can be a job your paid for doing, such as waitressing, or working as a sales person. Having a job though, does not always mean it will be fun. As Catherine Brandt says, "Having a job is hiding between aisles, avoiding the managers, and trying to pretend that when a customer is screaming after you for assistance." This is just a typical student viewpoint of having a job. All in all having a job has its good points and bad points, and if you can put up with the pros and cons then everything will work out in the end.

Play a smash hit!

by Catherine Brand

The Fall production "Arsenic and Old Lace" was a definite hit. There was a remarkable turnout on opening night. The productions were split between two casts equally as talented. The majority consisted of juniors and seniors. They contributed with their years of experience and the underclassmen gave the play a fresh new look. This year added to the many successful productions put on by the drama department. Mr. Ed Petty, the new drama teacher this year, is very enthused with the talent he has to work with. The group is looking forward to many more outstanding performances.

Class of '88 goes skiing

By Leslie Gieger

Rushing down the slopes at 25 MPH, your face burning from wind, chapping your lips and snow flying in your eyes and they wonder what's so fun about skiing? Well the answer is very simple, you must love pain and being uncomfortable. The best part is the feeling of freedom you experience while traveling down the slopes.

Seniors arrived late Friday evening in Blueknob Pennsylvania, where they experienced fun, relaxation and all the skiing they could take. The ski trip was mainly organized by Jenny Gormley and Pat Conrad. The expense of the trip was $219.00 and $7.50 for a deposit. The $219.00 included all lift tickets, lodging for four days and three nights, as well as dinner and breakfast meals. The $7.50 was a deposit used as a safety net in case any Resort property was destroyed. An additional $45.00 was needed from anyone that didn't bring skis. The cost included the whole weekend for rental skis.

The resort had many facilities that the senior class definitely took advantage of. For example there was an indoor pool and an outdoor hot tub. Some seniors even enjoyed a sleigh ride with horses. Monday afternoon regrets began. Back to school.

ollowing the Christmas Spirit Decorating the doors

Just before Christmas Mr. Boran's leadership class sponsored a door decorating contest. The idea was to capture the Xmas spirit by decorating your homeroom door. The winner would receive a complimentary doughnuts and orange juice breakfast and the second and third place winners would be acknowledged. Each and every first period class had the opportunity to be a part of the door decorating contest. Much though was put into the contest to strive for originality. Many succeeded but Mrs. Thompson's room (128) had Rudolph the red-nose reindeer as the number one winning door. Second place was Mrs. Hutchison; Room 238 also a winner with a Christmas tree and lighted bulbs. Last but not least was Mr. DeBenedittis' room 138 with a red and silver present which when opened showed a pop-up Santa Claus. This was a great idea by the leadership class; the doors brought out cheerful smiles to the students and faculty.

Searching For the Future Looking For A College

by Dawn Lambert

It all starts in your Junior year. You have to start thinking about what college you want to go to and take the SAT's. By the end of your Junior year you should be sending away to colleges and they send your applications and promotional.

Soon you find yourself smothered in pamphlets. Then summer came and you relaxed. Suddenly, before you knew it, it was your Senior year. All of the sudden you are rushing to meet deadlines, trying to improve SAT's, getting teacher recommendations and keeping grades up at least till the end of the Second Quarter.

You also find yourself running all over Virginia and the other states visiting college campuses. When all is decided upon and the headache is gone, you are left with worries of which college will finally accept you. Once you receive your acceptances and rejections it is all down hill. At least until the fall.

George Mason University is located in Fairfax City and many students take advantage of its closeness to home and attend it

A·C·A·D·E·M·I·C·S

Study is a hard business. Odds are on who survives is who makes the grade this year. It's based more on the academic side of school life than on giving higher test scores and grade point averages, resulting in a year of academics. Students buckled down, stayed after school, and asked questions. For example, students participated in two new programs: Flunkbusters and Peer Tutoring. In Flunkbusters, successful students received hints and help from Peer Tutoring students successful in one subject helped one another learn in that area. This year produced many serious, hard working, and dedicated people ready to face college and the world.

Over 2,000 Latin Students meet at the Classical League Convention

by Jon Cocks

Latin students travel near and far in order to take part in a variety of extra-curricular activities. One of the biggest events is the annual Virginia Junior Classical League Convention. This year it was held in Richmond and over 2000 Latin students from all over Virginia were in attendance. There was something for everyone: academic, dramatic, oratorical, art competitions; seminars and lectures; and the election of state officers. A Roman banquet was the highlight of the two-day gathering. The thirty students from Herndon High brought back a plethora of prizes from the many contests.

The Latin Club and the Italian Club planned several joint activities in connection with the Italian Student Exchange Program: a visit at the National Gallery of Art, a trip to Williamsburg and Busch Gardens, and a day in Baltimore's Inner Harbor.

Latin students had the privilege of visiting the Supreme Court and of viewing the Court in session. The visit followed a study of several aspects of Roman law.

Especially fortunate were students who went on the annual trip to the Metropolitan Museum in New York. They also visited a spectacular Carthage exhibit at the Museum of Natural History.

The Latin year has been work, opportunity, and enjoyment: Labor, carpe diem, and gaudet!

Technology and Vocational Classes

Looking at the Future

In this age of computers and increased emphasis on the Sciences and Math, it's gratifying to see so many students taking elective programs. These programs, part of Technology and Vocational Education, offer many challenges. A wide array of classes are offered, such as Maintenance and Repair, a vocational course offered in a 2 hour block, Challenges of Engineering, Technical, Architectural and Engineering Drawing, Aviation, Materials and Processes and Auto Mechanics. The importance of these classes is that it gives some very viable options for students who may not be considering college in their future. Most of these students get jobs in Tech. Ed fields — many while still in school. Still others go on to Technical Schools such as Lincoln Tech or the General Motors programs. Some will graduate and go directly in construction trades jobs such as bricklaying, electrical or carpentry work or plumbing. On a visit to some classes students can be observed making elaborate pieces of wood furniture. The student takes existing plans and modifies them according to his needs. Pieces are then cut and assembled and finished. Some of the projects include a mahogany bed with storage drawers beneath it and a cedar chest. Students had various comments about these classes. Tim Dutton said "It's fun because I like to use my hands and this might mean a job for me." Another class with some practical experience is Aviation. This course helps students to get direction toward fields in aviation or those connected with aviation. In beginning level much of the class is devoted to academics such as math, physics and careers. It's only in the advanced classes that students have the opportunity to work on the airplane being constructed — a Skybolt Biplane. Students from these programs make an important contribution to the working world. One day you'll open your front door and find him in a repair uniform here to fix your washer or dryer — or maybe you'll entrust your brand-new vehicle to his care. Chances are it was a program like this that guide the student directed toward these career goals.

Learning action research techniques

Advanced placement American history students in Mrs. Barbara Davis' classes have been actively involved in learning the techniques and tools of research. During the first nine week grading period, they completed phase one of the project, "In Search Of ...". During this phase, the classes searched for tools of research that will enable them to use primary documents and to read material history. Resource speakers who have visited the class included: Mrs. June Robinson, National Archives; Mr. A.T. Stephens, Fairfax Authority; Mr. Larry Clarity, Herndon Historical Society. To gain on site experience, the classes have taken two field trips. On September 22, they visited the Virginia Room at the Fairfax Main Regional Library and the Archives at the Fairfax Circuit Court. These two locations provided in-depth — opportunities to locate primary sources related to local and state history as well as genealogical research. On October 15, the classes visited Woodlawn Plantation and the Pope-Leighey House. They participated in the "What is a house?" tour which required the use of observation skills in order to read the material history. From this evidence students wrote critical assessments of the life-styles reflected by each house. To complete Phase I of "In Search Of ...", each student made an on-site visit to the Claude Moore Colonial Farm and one of Mount Vernon, Gunston Hall, or Sully Plantation. Using the tools of research, each student gathered historical evidence and developed an analytical assessment paper which compared or contrasted the life-styles reflected by each site. By studying and using the techniques and tools of action research, A.P. American history students will be prepared to complete Phase II of "In Search Of ..." during the second period.

Once a year, all the units in Area 5, (including NC, VA, WVA, DC, MO), are inspected by Captain Charles Futch, USN. An all day event, the inspection began with the personal inspection of all the cadets in a company formation. The inspections included haircuts, shoes, and over all uniform and cadet appearance. Captain Futch then inspected all the departments including supply, ordinance, and administration. Finally, a command brief was given by the commanding officer and his staff.

Winning the CNET Award places you as the best in area 5, which contains approximately 30-40 schools. Each cadet received the CNET ribbons and the unit receives plaques, awards, and honors.

Both of the teams won the unit many trophies and awards. Every year Captain Blakeman is allowed three nominations to the U.S. Naval Academy per year and

Touching Base With Teachers:

An Opportunity For Parent/Teacher Communication

Put together ninety-five teachers and two hundred-forty parents eager to learn more about their students' school performance. Offer the teachers a sumptuous snack of nutritious foods and sweets to keep them going after a long and arduous day. All this added up to a most successful afternoon in which the focus of the discussion was on the students' progress.

The Touching Bases idea began last year in the P.T.A. with parents expressing a desire to have some informal time one-on-one with their children's teachers. Arrangements were made to keep teachers after contract hours. Parents fixed some tasty homemade foods to put the teachers in just the right mood to face anxious parents.

Tables were set up in the cafeteria by department and parents were able to meet and discuss student problems.

Held first this year in Oct., the parents felt that it was so helpful that it was repeated again on Tuesday Feb. twenty-third from two until four-thirty P.M. Parent Jan Butler, mother of tenth grader Deborah Butler, said "unless you have a child that has problems, a program like this is the only time for a parent to meet with teachers. It gives you an opportunity to find out what expectations are for the year."

Teachers also had many positive comments about the idea. Gretchen Shook, a physics teacher said "I felt that 'touching bases' was a great idea, but not enough parents attended. Perhaps if it were held later in the day we could catch more parents on their way home from work."

D.E.C.A. is the natural organization for marketing and fashion merchandising students. Through activities such as field trips to businesses and through guest speakers, members learn the aspects of how a business is run. As the only national student organization, D.E.C.A. encompasses civic responsibilities and the free enterprise system. Through mem-

Future Skills For Life

Fine and Practical Arts are more than just schoolwork

by Kevin Lee

Sure, you need your basics, Math, Science, English and History, but what about other skills. Fine and practical arts play an important roll in our academic schedule. Most important is that they give us ideas for skills we will use for life. Some of the subjects include typing, business, art, orchestra, drama and computer programming. In these classes you can learn everything from playing an instrument to typing an essay.

However, even though Fine and Practical Arts are required, most students don't mind learning the subjects as long as they are interesting. Not to mention the fact these subjects will be used by many to help with their future. So most students really don't mind taking the classes. Therefore everybody will continue to learn these skills they will need for the future.

Do you remember your freshman year? The first time you stepped through the front doors wide-eyed and mouth ajar, "look at all those people," you gasped. Then you took a few steps down the hall, wishing to get to class, and you were engulfed by the mad swirl of students. You had become one of the very special persons who make what this school is today.

When one thinks of Herndon one thinks of sports or academics or clubs... but what makes it all up? Think about it... Think about what is Herndon: it is not only grades and scores, it is friends and groups. It is people you love and the ones you don't love. Our school is a melting pot of many lifestyles mixed into one place.

SAY "SEX"

by Dawn Lambert

Do you wonder what sex has to do with a picture of Kelsey Gardiner standing in what looks like his underwear? It all has to do with senior portrait day. Many say you become a senior when the last year's senior class graduates. I don't feel that you can be a full-fledged senior until that one day during summer when you have to go back to school for your senior picture. Those are the things your grandparents get all goggly-eyed over and say, "My, you've gotten so much older" and "don't you look so cute." During the summer break, you got this little slip of paper in the mail that told you when your appointment was. You went in on that day, hopefully with a friend to keep you company while you got your picture taken. For a girl it sure could get complicated trying to keep that drape up. Guys had it a little easier. They just threw on part of a shirt and coat. Then you go before the camera and the photographer says "Say sex" so you'll smile. Finally, you received the final pictures in the mail to distribute to your friends. It all ended when the last picture was handed out.

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE

by Mary Kirschner

It is 7:25 AM and you're waiting patiently on Dranesville Road. You're ready to turn on to Bennett Street. Seconds tick by and it's finally your turn to go. You take off and try to find a parking place in the crowded Senior Parking Lot. After finding a spot and getting out of the car (remembering to turn off your headlights, unlike yesterday), you hurry off to class. Being a senior has many privileges. One of those is being able to drive to school and park in the majestic Senior Parking Lot. The question is however, just how many seniors drive and how many still have to take the great big yellow bus? Approximately 80% of the seniors drive and/or get rides and 20% of the seniors ride the bus. How do the seniors feel about their privilege? Over all, they feel special and of course privileged. As Alan Laramy exclaimed, "It's a feeling of being free," and later when asked, Mark Aldrich stated, "I have one thing to say, patience is a virtue." So over all feelings are good about senior parking and driving to school. And because of that honor, cheery day at Herndon High School ends as the seniors and a few juniors drive-off in their cars shortly after the bell rings at 1:50 PM.

Star and King work diligently on mastering their skills in Tae Kwon Do. Concentration and confidence play an important role when in competition. They are shown here practicing at their school of Tae Kwon Do in Burke, Virginia.

The Ruling King and the Shining Star, the Kicking Duo

by Candice Stout

How many students do you know who could defend themselves in a life or death situation? Senior twins Sasan and Soheil Azami—Soheily, most commonly known as King and Star respectively, are pros in the art of Tae Kwon Do, in which they hold the rank of 3rd degree black belts. They have been performing Tae Kwon Do since 1979, when their father first introduced it to them.

Competitions involving Tae Kwon Do are divided into two categories, sparring and forms. In recent competitions, Star received the bronze medal in fighting among the lightweights, and King won the National Title in forms by taking the gold at the 21st AAV/USA Junior Olympic Games held in Syracuse, New York, in August of 1987. Star and King qualified for these Games by winning the gold in the Virginia State Championships in June '87.

When asked what Tae Kwon Do means, Star replied, "It's the art of hand and foot. It mainly stresses self-defense, physical fitness discipline, and character. Tae Kwon Do also builds the individual mentally and spiritually."

They both strive for excellence with the same tip for success, "Strive and achieve. Believe and you will succeed."

A Friend Is . . .

by Leslie Geiger

High school years are not one of the most impressionable times of one's life. Friends come and go, but those friends from high school are usually most memorable. High school is a time that is constantly spent with friends. Many people have different definitions of what a friend is. Todd Cerino remarked, "A friend is someone who has the same interests, desires, and motivations as you have. A friend will never let you down, but rather, will pick you up out of a quagmire and restore your inner spirits. A friend is a person you can consult with on matters of impending and utmost importance not excluding danger and self-sacrifice; someone who is willing to stick up for you in your time of need."

Friends can also become enemies if you're not very careful enough to work out your differences. Galen Burgess agreed with that by saying, "A friend doesn't always have to like what you do, but respect what you do. Everyone is different! A person who tries to understand you is a true friend." Marcie Warden said, "A friend is the greatest thing you could ask for — someone who sticks by you through the fun and the hard times. Everyone needs a friend."

Best friends Heidi Anderson and Jenn Gormley pose for a shot.

Bleachers Get A Facelift

by Trina Goldberg

This year the bleachers' old paint job wasn't in great condition. About ten seniors decided to get things together and paint them. Well, they all showed up one fine Saturday morning, bright-eyed and bushy tailed with no paintbrushes. So they decided to try again and hoped it would work out better than last time.

The four seniors that showed up, the second time, Russ Williams, Jack Manhire, Mike Bills, and Marty Newsom still didn't exactly paint the bleachers thoroughly.

They did however paint most of the Homet's nest and painted a large red 88 over a part of the bleachers.

Behind Locked Doors

by Kevin Lee

Did you ever wonder why someone would take the time to decorate a locker? Lockers are a home away from home. "Decorating them takes away some of that blah look," were Dawn Lambert's personal feelings. Almost everyone has some sort of decorative item in their lockers. Items include posters, bumper stickers, or pictures tacked up in their lockers. However, some students go as far as stuffed animals and wall paper to grab your attention.

The fact still remains that as long as students have lockers, they will continue coming up with new ideas to catch the eye. Students will continue to make their lockers original and comfortable and as homey as possible.

Deanna Manley digs into her highly decorated locker between classes.

Staci Lamkin Wins Junior Miss

by Anne Bannerman

Senior Staci Lamkin was selected as Herndon-Reston Junior Miss at the Reston Community Center on September 13, 1987. Out of the ten girls competing, four Staci Lamkin and Heather Bickel after the pageant. Both looked stunning in their formal gowns.

from Herndon High were Heather Bickel, Laura Fyfe, Staci Lamkin and Melissa MacCullough. Among many awards, Staci received a $500.00 scholarship, a Junior Miss medallion and a trophy. Staci also won the physical fitness category and received a $300.00 scholarship;

she plans for all the money to go toward her college education. In January Staci competed at the Virginia Junior Miss competition. Staci says, "The contest was a great experience and I recommend it to anyone who is interested and is looking for fun and excitement."

Holding At A Constant

by John Cocks

It was something you've looked forward to all of your underclassman years. Now when you were finally a Senior you found out that despite your hopes of spectacular privileges they were not what you had expected. Well known privileges included the right to leave class three minutes early to go to lunch, and the "Senior Tables", and the right to use the library during lunch. Above all these, the privilege most sought after is the right to use the Senior parking lot. The only two requirements being that you were a senior and that you somehow have attained a parking sticker. At the beginning of the school year, the Seniors came close to losing their privileges. Over the summer a debate had arisen between staff members as to whether or not Seniors should be allowed to keep their privileges. One viewpoint of the dispute being that in the past years Seniors had abused them and that they should be taken away. After three weeks of voting, debating and voting, debating and more voting, the Seniors were allowed to keep their privileges. Amazingly after all of the debates, the privileges themselves remained the same as years before.

Michelle Weeks, Laura Box and Mark Thoreson exert their privileges by parking in the Senior Parking Lot.

Senioritis

Sleeping through classes going to the career center is only two of the many ways seniors are getting out of doing work. Seniors have been in high school looking forward to graduating, for four years and when the last year comes around you want to have fun and that doesn't include schoolwork. Most of the time seniors sleep during classes and wake up at the last few minutes in class or head for the career center looking for colleges to attend in the fall. Well, when you have senioritis you can't do much else.

Justina Brewer, Jason Smith and Abby Girvin all show various stages of senioritis.

IS IT REALLY THE END?

by Leslie Stern

June 16, 1988, is the last day of school for Seniors. Before they fulfill their plans for the future. They are thinking about what their lives will be like after high school. Many will be getting ready for college, life on their own. Some will be job hunting, finding a way to produce an income. After June 16th all the Seniors will pack their bags and drive to Ocean City Maryland for the annual celebration after graduation, for one or two weeks. Unfortunately, until those last few weeks of school most Seniors don't seem to realize it's finally the end, or just the beginning of the rest of their lives? If they think high school is hard ... they've got a lot of hard work ahead of them! After all those years of hard work it's finally over and now they've made the transition from teenager to adult.

Corey Schueler, Jimi Taylor, Tiffany Rubenstein, and David Swerdlhoff gather together to show their friendship and spirit.

"Hornet's Liberty"

by Anne Bannerman

At the Homecoming parade, the crowd applauded the Hornet's Junior Class representation of "The Statue of Liberty." The Juniors put their all into the float, the result ending in the reception of the first place award. The theme, "Let Freedom Ring" was well represented by the Juniors. Their hard work over three weekends produced the "Hornet Statue of Liberty," standing on an island. The Juniors put tremendous effort into creating their float, and their spirit showed by the number of class members cheering them on. Junior, Jennifer Schumacher said, "There was a lot of cooperation, a lot of support, good spirits all around, and we had a great time putting it all together."

Juniors Second in Spirit Links

by Kim Newsom

In the middle of October the Junior Class once again started saving their pocket change. The reason for this strange behavior is that as a yearly tradition the choir sponsors an annual event. This event consists of selling little pieces of paper which cost ten cents a piece, and are attached together and stretched out along the football field during the Homecoming Pep Rally. This is done to show which class has the most spirit. The Juniors really got in to it and there was big competition between the Juniors, the Seniors, the Sophomores, and the Freshman. Students paced the halls before, during and after school collecting money from their fellow classmates for the sole purpose of coming out on top. The final results of this spirited contest were that the Seniors took first place, the Juniors came in second place, the Sophomores in third and the Freshman came in last.

Warren Prisby Athlete and Scholar

by Catherine Brand

Warren Prisby, a talented Junior, has worked hard for his accomplishments. Recognized as a leader in both football and track, he is a credit to our school. When asked how he became interested in football he commented proudly, "It's in the family!" His father, a former pro player for the Denver Broncos and a coach for the Buffalo Bills, has greatly influenced his athletic spirit. During summers, Prisby constantly trains by running, lifting weights, and reviewing past games. With only two weeks vacation, he then goes back to training again. "It takes hard work to be the best," he exclaimed with pride.

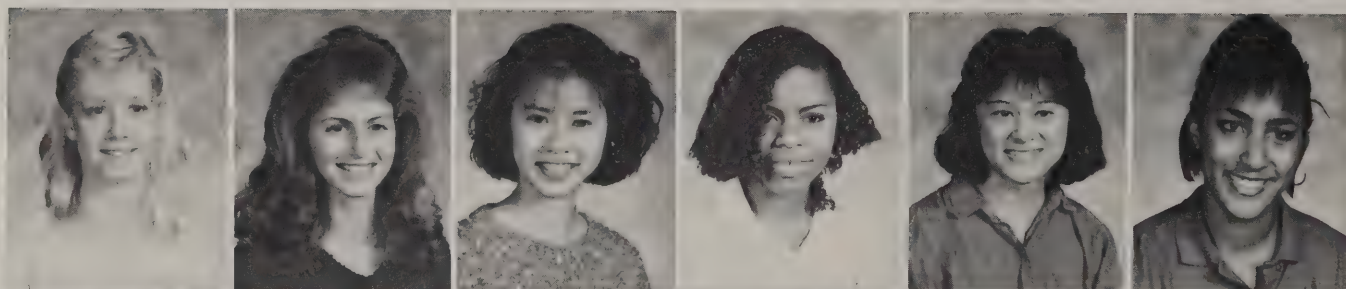

Although Prisby is known mainly for his athletic ability, he still finds time for academics, maintaining a 3.3 G.P.A. and has been interested in the Naval Academy as well as U.V.A. Personally Warren describes himself as a funny, moody, hardworking individual. He enjoys being himself and doesn't feel the need to put on an act to impress people. His advice to everyone is, "Be the best you can be! Don't settle for anything else."

Juniors Get Rings at Breakfast

by Scott Tessier

October 8, 7:30 a.m. was a moment the eleventh graders all had been waiting for. It was the day they were to receive their class rings. With great anticipation they waited in long lines that led to the Bal-four representatives who had their rings. When each individual finally got up to the front of the line there were still a wait before they could actually place the rings on their fingers.

Turning your friend's ring is a yearly tradition. This year you knew it was finished when it was turned 89 times.

All they had to do was pay their final bill and they could rush to their friends and show off their new gold and silver. For some guys and girls, rings were worn for only a moment, then they exchanged rings with their loved one. For other Juniors it was a time to share their rings with all their friends. On that Thursday Juniors could be seen proudly walking through the halls showing off their new rings to Seniors, Sophomores and even a few Freshmen.

Culture Runs Deep

by Kim Holtgren

One of our students, Sarah Ogrosky is spending a year as an exchange student in France at the Lycie Albert Schweitzer Institute. Some of her classes include mathematics, French, physics, English and history.

Some of the same T.V. shows we watch here are televised in France, such as "Santa Barbara" and "Hogans Heroes." Many of our movies, like "Blind Date" and "The Living Daylights" were shown in French theaters.

In a letter from Sarah, she told us, "The clothes here are very sporty! There are some people who wear leather jackets as well as sweatshirts." Though she has enjoyed her experience, she misses America.

Junior Class Fundraiser

by Kim Yoshida

Did you get your car washed? Did you see people in the middle of Route 7 pulling people over to get their car washed? Well it happened. Water fights, and great looking cars were among the best things to watch. Ed Tomlinson and Warren Prisby had said, "We all had a good time. It started off slow, but by noon the place was backed up all the way to Route 7. We do accept donations!" Through all the hard work, the Juniors still found the time to have fun and get lots of donations from their grateful customers.

Testing for the Future

by Mouna Ghabra

For Juniors the biggest step towards college is taking the PSAT's and SAT's, which are definite musts if they are going to college. Juniors say, "It's bad enough you have to take them, but you also have to pay twelve dollars and if your late signing up, you have to pay almost double."

For six Saturdays, at 8:00 a.m., each year over 400 students take PSAT's and SAT's. After the students sit in their assigned seats, the volunteers explain how to fill out a scan tron and give directions for each section. They then take the test for four hours and get only two ten minute breaks.

Senior Jeff Grimm signs up for SAT's for his last time from Mrs. Gratchner.

The Melting Pot

by Kevin Lee

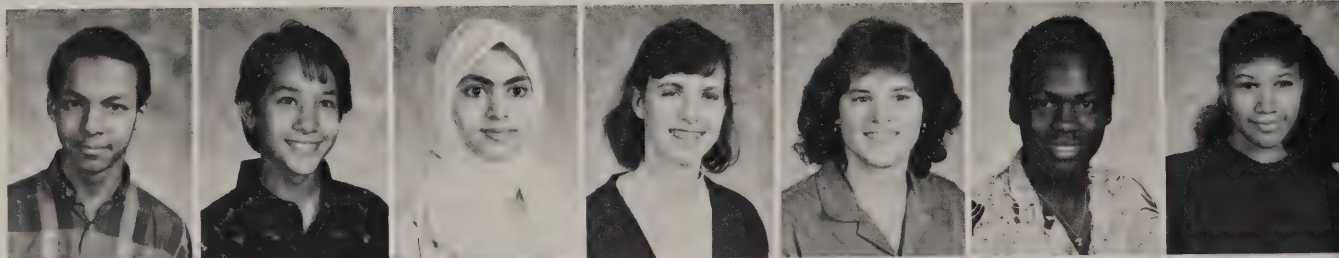

The sophomore float, "The melting pot of the world", came in second place in the judging of Herndon's floats. The float consisted of many flags from places such as Britain, Japan, and Canada. The melting pot also had an American flag and a symbolic melting pot. On the one side of the float hung a poster that read, "The Constitution Attracts People to America, the melting pot of the world."

The float was designed by Courtney Schumacher, Alexa Lange, Jennifer Greason and Brian Kirchdoerfer, and was built at Dawn Turner's house. Along with the rest of the sophomores, the float took four hard-working days as it received the second place trophy.

Spinning Our Wheels

by Mary Kirschner

We all take the class at one time or another. Most students go in thinking they know everything but actually learn a lot. What is this class you ask? Driver's Ed., of course, I know you're thinking oh yuck, but if you liked seeing dummies in cars smashed up against a wall or talking with Officer Evans then you have enjoyed this class. If not, well then you will just have to struggle through it. As one student said, "At times Driver's Ed. can be boring, such as taking notes, but seeing the ancient films, the new ones too and talking with Officer Evans about his personal experiences with drunk driving accidents are definitely interesting."

Mr. Kagarise's Driver's Ed class studies a variety of auto safety subjects.

Sophomore First Job

by Erica Ziegler

Now that the underclassmen have hit high school, they know the burdens and responsibilities of debts. Movies, football games, clothes and especially fast food bring an accumulation of money from the otherwise empty wallets from the students. In order to obtain the things that the students want they need to find a way to pay for them. This is where the first job comes in. Some of the most popular jobs around are working at the local K-Mart, McDonalds and specialty stores.

When Sophomore Mouna Ghabra was asked how does she like her job at Safeway she simply replied "It gives extra spending money."

But one word of advice as given in the past, once you start working you can't stop, so bum off your parents as long as you can.

Troy Krawiec has a job working at McDonald's.

The Hoffmans: Wrestling Twins

by Jon Cocks

Believe it or not Herndon has wrestling twins, Chris and Matt Hoffman. Not only that but they came in first and second in District Championships. Chris and Matt had to wrestle each other, to the distress of their unbelieving parents. The match ended with the victory and the District Championship going to Matt.

After the match Mr. Allen Hoffman was caught saying, "near about drove me crazy! I didn't know who to root for!" No one knew who to root for, not even their coach. Even though Chris came in second place he still has a lot to be proud of, like his five wins and only one loss through the whole season.

When asked how they handled wrestling each other they answered, "It's no big deal. It's just another match." That came from Matt while Chris agreed. Both of their parents attempt not to play favorites, since they are proud of both Matt and Chris, and so are we.

Matt and Chris Hoffman, identical twins wrestled each other in district championships which Matt won.

Alexa Lange: Remarkable Runner

by Laura Trevors

Alexa Lange, Track and Cross Country runner, is also an outstanding student. She has been running for the past year now. A close friend talked her into running and now she looks upon it as a great challenge. Over the past year Alexa has acquired twenty medals, with her remarkable running ability. Thanksgiving weekend she completed in the Kinney Nationals. Her goal next year is to be first in the state. She would like to win a scholarship to college for her running ability. Alexa said a lot about running but the words that sum it all up were "it's great but it's a lot of hard work."

Alexa Lange takes a practice run before continuing her serious practice.

"We The People..."

by Becky Roberto

Designed and built by the Freshman class, the float "We The People..." won third place in the annual Homecoming parade. After school thirty freshmen gathered together at Krissie Stafford's house to spray and paste the float together. On the morning of October 24, crowds cheered at the enthusiasm of the freshmen.

People who worked on the float included Chris Libert, Matt Badger, Melissa Morrison, Katie Langly and Mark Cantella, as well as others. Freshman Jenny Strater commented with a smile "At least we didn't come in last place. Besides, I'm proud of us!"

Coming Up Short

by Dawn Lambert

The students filed from the school building into the stadium for the traditional homecoming pep rally. Chorus stretched the spirit links across the football field. The challenge for the spirit links started at the beginning of the week. Each class individually competed against each other to see which class raised the most money, which is reflected by the spirit links.

The spirit links had cost ten cents apiece and help raise class spirit. The links were represented by construction paper, each class having a different color. The freshman class color was green. The class lacked the enthusiasm it has had in the past years.

Freshmen like the other classes showed their spirit by buying the links.

Best Buddies

by Candice Stout

Freshmen are usually overlooked, but these two can't be. Both Peter Hanks and Ben Lienthal are examples of well-rounded students. They are involved in sports and other school activities. At the beginning of the year both participated in cross-country track for the first time, ranking highly on the freshman team. The two best friends not only share the same sports interests, but also academically impress everyone.

Both Ben and Peter feel that they go to a great school although Ben commented, "It would stimulate a more exciting and active learning environment if the faculty utilized more varied and creative methods of teaching. The students would then be challenged." On the other hand, Peter feels he has learned a lot, and his grades definitely show it.

What A Day!

by Carl Minerel

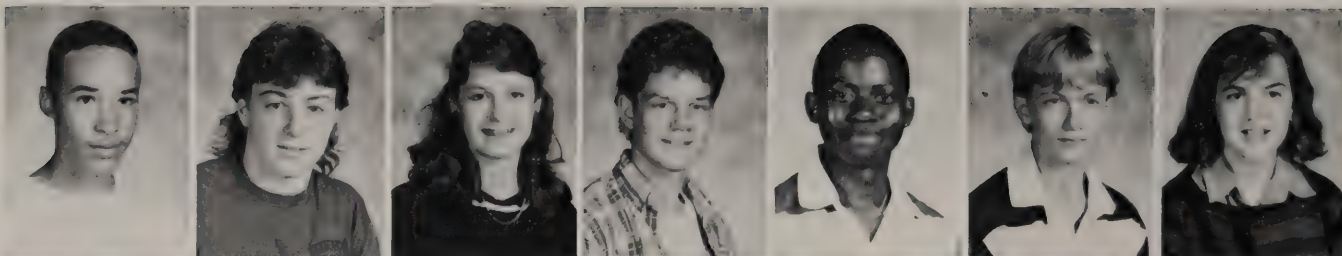

This was your first year in high school, and every one of you probably had an unusual experience. Maybe you went to your locker to get your lunch only to find that the water pipe in the bathroom broke and the section where your locker was was flooded. Maybe you went to a class for a whole semester and find out that it was a twelfth grade class. Sometimes the oddest experiences are the most embarrassing.

Devang Bhuva replied "On the second day of school I went to my locker and found out that everything was stolen. I went to report it and found out it was the wrong locker!!"

Robyn Smith, Looking for the Olympics

by Trina Goldberger

Robyn Smith is the only Freshman on the Varsity Field Hockey team. Robyn not only excels in field hockey but has played many other sports, including girls basketball, powder puff football and soccer, which she has played for ten years on area select teams as well as an under fourteen state team. All of these sports except soccer are new to Robyn this year, but you certainly couldn't tell by the way she plays!

She is currently coaching swimming at Solitar Developmental Club, but Robyn's goal in life is to participate in the 1992 Olympics on America's soccer team. For now Robyn will continue to play all the sports she can and plans to play on U.V.A.'s or North Carolina's soccer teams.

You know Your A Freshman When . . .

by Nickole Eagleston

Everyone knows that during the first year of High School, school life can not only be difficult but almost impossible. This is the year of the Freshmen, and we asked them to let us know — "How do you know you are a Freshmen?"

"You know your a freshman when your older brother (who is a senior) yells at you because you have a better locker than him."

"When your brother charges you a buck-fifty to ride to school with him."

"When your walking down the hall trying to avoid all the taller people running over you."

"When you lose the Homecoming float contest."

"When you lose every school contest."

Martha Escobar, Maryam Ovissi, Amy Theros and Rochelle Goldthorpe enjoy their Art class.

Riding High In The Homecoming Parade

by Mouna Ghabra

What an exciting way to start out in high school. To be elected as a Freshman Princess. For Abby Reyes and Karen Boyd, it was just that. It is a weekend Abby and Karen will not easily forget. Being escorted and having received many flowers of all kinds, it was definitely an honor. They were only in Herndon for a few months and yet they were equally involved in the Homecoming events. They may only be Freshmen, but they've already become extremely successful and are striving to become more involved in the many events that are yet to come.

Soccer- An after School Sport

by Anne Bannerman

Kicking around a ball might seem like a fun pastime to many, but to a soccer player it's a lot of hard work and dedication. Every day possible, freshmen boys stay after school to play soccer, not only to increase their skills, but to have fun. Soccer, a sport that requires a great deal of knowledge and experience, is becoming more and more popular in the United States.

Nukem Now Love Em Later

by Kevin Lee

Miss Joan Newcome has been working at Herndon High School for twenty years. She teaches U.S. and V.A. History and everyone that knows her will tell you she is a loud and loving teacher. She graduated from Fairfax High School and achieved her Bachelor of Science and M.S. Degrees at Radford University. Miss Newcome is well known for sponsoring the Senior Class which is a very difficult job. It starts in July with caps and gowns, and ends with notification letters and reserving the Patriot Center.

A Touch Of Heart

by Anne Bannerman

Mrs. Susan Frelich, one of Herndon's L.D. teachers, has been teaching for fourteen years, six of them at Herndon. While teaching second grade she noticed kids with learning disabilities and wanted to reach out and help them. She went back to Boston University where she received her Masters in Learning Disabilities. Mrs. Frelich says, "It's very challenging to try and help students who have learning problems and help them to achieve in the regular classrooms." Mrs. Frelich has many outside interests like cross-country skiing, folk-dancing, and hiking. In the summer you'll be able to see her volunteering at Wolftrap to help with the many productions. Mrs. Frelich has no regrets about moving up to teach high school she "enjoys watching the Freshman come to Herndon and leave as young adults."

Mrs. Frielich watches over two students, ready to answer any questions that they might have.

Masterful Marvel of a Maness

by Jon Cocks

Not just another Algebra II teacher, but an important part of our school. That's Mr. Bobbie Maness. The past twenty-one years Mr. Bobbie Maness has been teaching, caring and participating in our school and events that go on here. After spending six years in the NAVY, Mr. Maness has moved on to a tougher job, teaching Algebra II. All of his students enjoy his magnanimous and kind personality. He possesses the unique qualities that make learning enjoyable not to mention interesting. During an interview, Mr. Maness Commented, "When I was sixteen years old I thought my father was the stupidest man alive. When I was twenty-one, it was amazing what my old man had learned in five years." Now at the age of fifty-four Bobbie Maness has decided to make this his last year of teaching. He had made plans to rest a couple of months then continue his favorite hobbies of hunting and fishing. It is truly sad to see one of the original teachers of Herndon move on to retirement, but our best wishes go with him wherever the trail of life may lead.

Mr. Yip Comes to Herndon

by Mary Kirschner

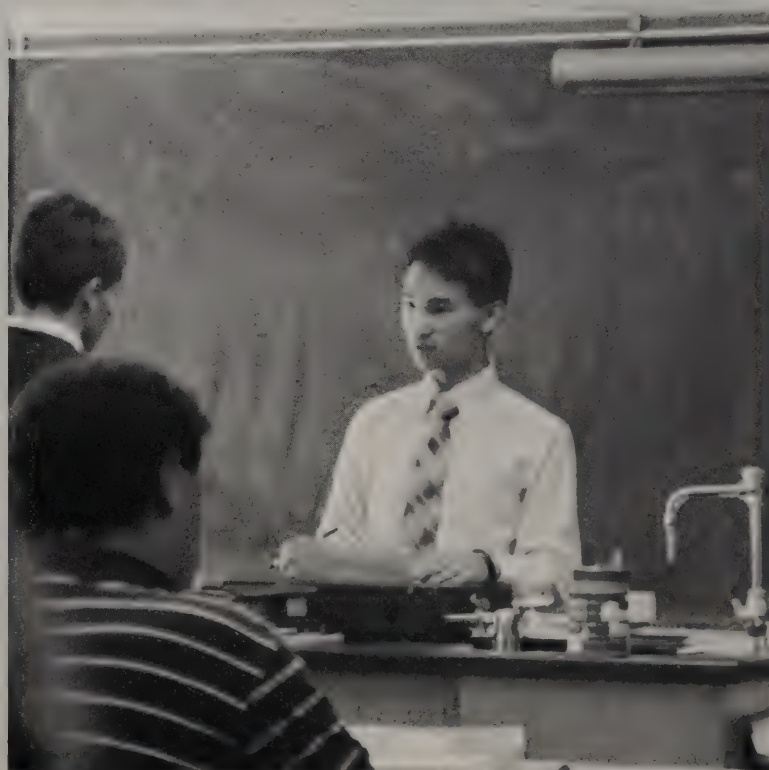

There have been a lot of changes recently at Herndon. One of those changes is the addition of a new faculty member, Mr. Kepui Yip. Mr. Yip teaches chemistry and physics.

After graduating from Beverly Hills high school, he went on to MIT in Massachusetts. Since graduating in 1986 with a degree of Bachelor of Science he has come to Fairfax County to teach. How did he come to be a teacher in Fairfax, you ask? When asked he replied, "There was a conference in Boston where school systems got together to look at new teachers. I liked Fairfax County and from there they picked where I taught."

Inspired by tutoring during his high school years he decided in his Sophomore year at MIT that he wanted to teach at the high school level. With absolutely no major future plans Mr. Yip commented that he's "living for now and is enjoying sharing his knowledge."

Crossing Guard Survives Accident

Mrs. Halsey, our school crossing guard, was hit by a car on a dark Thursday morning in October just as school was opening. The students and staff reacted with great shock, and concern for her welfare.

One motorist stopped his car and jumped out and picked up directing traffic around the busy intersection in front of the school. Several teachers attended to Mrs. Halsey who lay in the street awaiting the arrival of the Rescue Squad. "We tried to keep her calm and comfortable," said Mr. Wayne Smith, science teacher and trainer for the Sports teams. "It seemed to all of us like an eternity until the ambulance arrived," commented Tony DeBenedittis also on the scene "I arrived just after it happened and didn't know if I should just jump out of my car — causing a further traffic jam — or park and run back to the scene."

Literally minutes afterwards fire engines were called in response to a small brush fire in the new construction area adjacent to the accident scene of Dranesville Road, further complicating the rescue efforts. Despite these delays, the Rescue Squad did arrive and rushed Mrs. Halsey, to the Reston Hospital Center where she underwent treatment.

Later that day, the student body was told Mrs. Halsey was in critical condition. Later that week, she was found to be in good spirits despite serious injury. She showed her amazing determination when she exclaimed, "I cannot wait to get back to my job at the school."

Mrs. Halsey received a card from the students after her accident.

Hola Amigos

by Candice Stout

Mrs. Hutchison can be described in one word — Awesome! She not only has been a Spanish teacher here for the past five years but also the Drill Team sponsor for the past two years. When asked how she feels about the Drill Team she responded enthusiastically, "They are energetic, hardworking, and very spirited!" Mrs. Hutchison gets a great sense of pride from working with these girls. "They work diligently every week preparing for Friday's performance." Sometimes she feels not enough credit is given to the Drill Team where it's deserved.

Captain Heather Bickel had one thing to say about Mrs. H, "She's the most dedicated sponsor we've ever had. Without her we wouldn't be able to achieve the goal we set for our team."

On the teaching aspect, Mrs. Hutchison enjoys it greatly. "I love teaching Spanish. My family background is Spanish and I feel it's very important to influence students to learn the language." In addition to being a teacher she also brings students abroad to such countries as Spain and Mexico. In working with Mr. Oliver, they provide students with unforgettable cultural experiences. She departs again this summer to Spain. In Mrs. Hutchison's spare time she spends time with her family. Her husband and three children, Mindy, Stacie, and Tommy keep her busy. This is one hard workin' lady.

Even with all Mrs. Hutchison's extracurricular activity she finds time to correct her student's Spanish tests.

Poetry Walks Our Halls

by Leslie Geiger

Without Evan Dubin there would be no poetry here. He is a familiar figure walking through the halls reciting his poems from memory. What do you want? Shakespeare, Keats, Shelley, Wordsworth? Just name the poet and he will recite his poetry. His legendary popularity with the students has come from his familiar smile relaxed classroom manner, and his passion for poetry.

John Fitch, a former student laughingly commented, "When it comes to knowledge gained, what I have learned is unforgivable."

and academics were also a part of every student's life. Students were also involved in un-sponsored ski trips, every week for an entire year to participate. Some clubs were established with the school 21 years ago. Others came along later and in 1977, new organizations were still being formed. Students would come to school and then stay after to participate in their chosen activity. Each organization specialized in a particular subject and sometimes different clubs would have a rivalry against one another. All in good fun, of course! Fundraisers were a major part of clubs and organizations.

Renaissance In Modern Time Madrigal Singers Revive the Middle Ages

by Kim Holtgren

"Sing We and Chant It." This was just one of the many Renaissance songs that the Madrigals sang. Mrs. King, the sponsor of Madrigals and many other singing groups, had chosen songs from the sixteenth centuries for the students.

Weelkes Veeehi and Morley were all sung in languages such as French, Italian and German at the performances given by the group. Each member wore an authentic costume that would be found in the Renaissance period. Performances were given periodically and last year the Madrigals were photographed on the front of a major music magazine.

Mrs. Phyllis King examines the music practiced by the Madrigals while Sonya Garza rests.

Band Continues Its Winning Ways

Chicago trip: Highlight of the year

by Anne Bannerman

Our band, the oldest in Fairfax County, has been an important part of the Northern Virginia band scene for more than 40 years. The band program includes the marching band, wind ensemble, symphonic band, concert band and jazz band, they are all instructed and conducted by Richard L. Bergman. The 160 students were very talented and dedicated, they all took class every day and often practiced at night. Their hard work really showed at each competition.

The marching band won third place at James Madison University as well as third at the Charlottesville tournament. The wind ensemble placed well at a festival in competition at Virginia Beach.

Mr. Bergman remarked, "Herndon is one of the finest bands in the County. Less than 1/2 of 1% of the High school bands in the U.S. can perform at the Herndon Band level. We are nationally recognized."

Orchestra discovers that practice makes a good performance

by Kim Holtgren

Sweetly tuned instruments filled the Orchestra room during second period of each day. Mrs. Loudenslager, the teacher was here for only two periods a day, a planning period and then her class. The orchestra involves 33 students. One student is currently visiting Italy as an exchange student. The most popular instrument is the violin with 8 students in First violin along with 14 in Second violin. Only two people play the viola and seven play the cello but the exchange student is one of the cellists. There are also two bass players.

Orchestra consumed at least three hours a week of the students time with some of the students spending additional time with private instructors. The orchestra performs a winter and spring recital and the senior baccalaureate as well as competitions. Bill McDevitt, a violinist exclaimed, "It's Orchestra, not band, Orchestra!!" The Orchestra is most often confused with band although the two are extremely different. Basically the Orchestra is composed of all string instruments unlike the Band where there are woodwinds, drums, flutes, and many others.

The Orchestra is proud and well deserving of all the praise they received.

Junior and Senior Councils: Where Leadership Begins

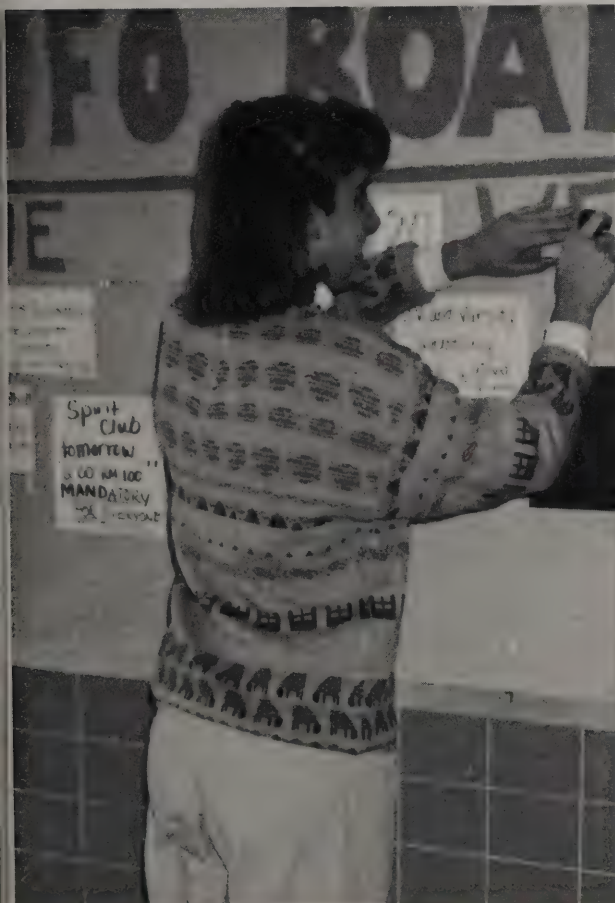

by Kim Yoshida

While Juniors were working on earning money for the prom, Seniors were waiting for the ski trip. Junior class meetings consisted of discussions on Homecoming, Prom, Fundraisers and floats. Senior class meetings were about the traditional ski trip, the trip to Cancun and other fun activities.

Seniors and Juniors are in their most expensive years in high school. That's why fundraisers were so important to both of the classes. While the Seniors have fun in their many different activities, Juniors work hard on fundraisers to give the Seniors a great prom.

Although these are the most expensive years in a teenager's high school career, both classes always seem to find a way to get the badly needed cash. Needless to say this is not the only one, but one of the biggest reasons Juniors and Seniors are happy to end the year.

Leadership Class Makes the Difference

by Catherine Brand and Kim Holtgren

The Student Government was a strong influence in the events of our school. The reason for this was their organization sponsors and carried out many activities that students were involved with. Their list of accomplishments goes on and on. One of the highlights was "Toys For Tots". On December 21 students brought toys to the cafeteria to donate to deprived and underprivileged children. After they were all collected the toys were brought to a Marine Corps drop off and delivered from there. This is just one of their many services, along with Homecoming. The organization, preparations and decoration was all up to the SGA, turning out to be a very successful Homecoming. Student Government was represented by Tim Ryan as president, Benj Farmery as vice president, Patty Boyle as assistant vice president, Russ Williams as secretary, and Corey Schuler as treasurer. "This year student government isn't just a name, we're working hard with Mr. Caudill to clean up the school and make it a more enjoyable place for everyone", stated an enthused Benj Farmery. The SGA was a fundamental source of leadership.

Publishing for the Fun of it

Journalisms show their stuff

by Anne Bannerman

Deadlines, deadlines, deadlines, that's what you hear all year long from the staffs of Herndon's three publications. The Stinger, the school newspaper, is a production of the journalism class. The students learn what journalism is all about through experience and hard work, they had put in a lot of time after school as well as in class.

The Scribe, our literary magazine, was an extra-curricular activity. The magazine is devoted to allowing students to express their feelings and ideas in the form of poetry and art. Judah Chakoff, put it "The Scribe is a glorification of the effort of the creative half of the mind." Science Etc... is a science and math journal that is published once a year and is unique to Herndon High. So far school in the D.C. area to produce one. The journal includes poetry, science and math research papers, photography, and artwork. All of which is submitted by students. Mrs. Barbara Heath said "the whole idea is to provide an outlet for student ideas in science and math. For the past three years our journal has won the first place award from Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

In all the publications, the students learn about responsibility and manage to produce three very enjoyable magazines.

When They "Hit That Perfect Beat"

Drill Team Has Plenty of "Opportunities"

by Candice Stout

Hit That Perfect Beat and Opportunities are two of the words and two of the songs that the Drill Team performed this year. Starting out with half a new squad and high hopes the drill team succeeded beyond their original expectations. The team began practice at the end of last year in order to prepare for superstar Drill Team Camp during the summer. Held at the University of Richmond, the four day camp introduced the girls to challenging routines and moves. For some of these girls, it was their first experience with real competition. According to Heidi Anderson, "It was fun learning the new routines, but when it came to performing in front of hundreds of strangers I could feel it in my stomach." Ribbons were awarded for the girls' performances. The highest ribbon, the blue; was definitely predominant.

In addition to these ribbons they brought back the Spirit Award for exemplifying their strength in pulling together as a close knit team. While at Camp, Captain Heather Bickel was nominated as a superstar girl. As a nominee Heather was eligible to become a part of the prestigious NCA Superstar Drill Team. She did so and went to the Aloha Bowl to perform on Christmas Day. When asked how Heather felt about her experience she responded, "It doesn't get any better than that".

Football season began with a pom routine to "Insecurity". The girls wanted to do their best job to impress the crowd. Dressed in bright new uniforms, excited yet nervous the Drill Team performed flawlessly. The crowd's response was incredible! "All the hours of practice made the whole thing worthwhile when we heard that crowd roar."; said Jennifer Greeson. The Drill Team performed at every home game with new jazz routines each week.

Homecoming was the most hectic, as the team prepared three routines, one in conjunction with the cheerleaders. While onlookers may think that Drill Team is a piece of cake, it's not!

Practices were on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursday nights, roughly 6 hours weekly. Captain Heather Bickel, co-captain Jenny Battin, Secretary Amy James, and Treasurer Meredith Swanzy spent their weekends putting their minds together making up routines. "You have to be really devoted, especially in the amount of time you put in", stated co-captain Jenny Battin.

The major fundraiser for the Drill Team was the "Compu-Dating." In October the team members passed out a questionnaire mix-in' and matchin' hopeful couples. Much thanks went to Jenny Battin who stayed up all hours of the night for the cause of love. This fundraiser grossed hundreds of dollars for the Drill Team treasury.

As the seasons changed the Drill Team moved indoors for basketball to keep up the spirits of the fans. Some songs done to routines were to New Order's "Bizarre Love Triangle," and "Party Your Body." All were received well by the crowds. For some team members being so close up to the fans wasn't the best feeling. "They could see all our facial expressions and especially if you messed up," commented Stella Mayo.

Drill Team is more than just a club or organization, it's a family. This could be seen at any practice as "senior role models," Dee Dee Dalton and Liz Fernandez put in their two cents every two seconds. These two know the seriousness of Drill Team but, still found plenty of time for fun and games.

Spirit Club working hard to promote Herndon

by Kevin Lee

Did you ever wonder who was in charge of seeing that posters were made for our football games? Or who decorated the school for Homecoming? Well its Mrs. Palmer and her Spirit Club. There are about one hundred students that participate in the club. These many students are in charge of many of the activities went on during the year. The Spirit

Club began the year by making posters for the football games. They then moved on to participate in such fundraisers as selling pennants, pom poms, buttons, shirts, and keychains. Most of the selling took place during the lunch shifts. Some of the money received through the fundraisers went to buying awards for the players. The club also went to the T.V.

show, "It's Academic", where students compete from different schools. The club usually ends the year by decorating the gym for the wrestling and basketball games. Missie Avery commented, "Although some of the work is difficult and time consuming, I'm proud to be a part of Herndon spirit!"

Herndon has winning season

The Hornets opened up their seasons with tough and important victories over Chantilly and Robinson. Even though these wins were out of the Great Falls District, they showed that the Hornets were not be taken lightly. Led by quarterback Warren Prisby and commanded by and runningbacks, and an experienced offensive line. The Hornets' special teams were also excellent this season. This resulted in a number of kickoffs returned for touchdowns and added an excellent new dimensions to the team. Offensive players named to the first team all-district were Pat Cunningham and Warren Prisby.

The defensive unit caused the opposition to make many turnovers. This in turn gave the offense many opportunities to put on the board. The strong defense was led by John Clouser, Donnie Marino, and Chris Haas who were all named to the second team all-district. Head coach Butch Baughan looks to have another successful season next year, and on this years record.

J.V. Football looks to next year

by Todd Cerino

The Junior Varsity Football team had a shaky start to their season this past fall. While the Hornets lost their first three games the last seven games showed some improvement on the team. The J.V. squad won three games lost three games and tied once in those last seven meet-

18-0 blowout of their Langley opponents. Hopefully the J.V. offense will maintain this type of momentum throughout their upcoming games of the varsity level. If this is done, varsity football will be blessed with many victories. The Hornet's defense was generally a well rounded group but hopes to gain confidence and skill as they continue to pursue high school football. With the tremendous success of the Freshman Football team many Varsity coaches around the area may start to worry prematurely about the fate of their teams. The reason for this is the success the Freshman here at Herndon have had. Finishing the season with a perfect 9-0

All of the success the team has had has come from a blend of talent, discipline and plain hard work. Practices started in the beginning of the year and the players had to endure the heat of the early school months.

Many drills and exercises were done by the Freshmen to hone and improve the skills required for football. The Freshmen can only hope to attain higher goals as they move

Boy's 3rd Girl's 4th; Best Year Ever

by Todd Cerino

The 87-88 boys and girls Cross Country teams surprised many people and opened many eyes around the state this year. With three of it's top five runners graduating last year the boys team looked to be just another average team. The girls team returned this year with a varsity squad composed entirely of underclassmen. This inexperience was thought to be a major setback but as the season came to a close many looked upon this as a valuable asset to the girls. The two teams finished strong at the major meets they competed in. The boys results included third place finishes at the Northern Region Athletic Directors Meet, the University of Virginia Invitational, and the Georgetown Prep Invitational. A fourth place finish was to be had at the Palotti Invitational and the team captured first place at the William and Mary Invitational. The girls finished eighth place at the University of Virginia Invitational, sixth at the Georgetown Prep Invitational and Palotti Invitational, and garnered first place at the William and Mary Invitational. The Girls finish with 3-10 season

The Varsity Field Hockey team had a traumatic season this year. Many of the district games played were lost by a small margin and the girls record did not reveal the talent found on this year's team. Three games came down to the wire in the form of shootouts or "strokes" as they are called. The over-

Getting into the swing of things

by Mouna Ghabra

At the beginning of the season the J.V. Field Hockey team was faced with an unusual dilemma. The J.V. Field Hockey team consisted of all new players. Not any of the players played the previous year. Tryouts began on August 17th. These girls devoted two weeks of their Summer and after-school every day usually from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Practice consisted of individual drills to enhance their skills. They also practiced as a team to maintain structural team work.

Their record was 1-1-8. Petra Schwab led the team to their only victory over Madison, 1-0. The only loss went to Marshall, 1-0. The season ended with a tie with Langley.

On the defensive side Kim Rathje, Kristen Bunting and Shanelle Rein, did a great job. On the offensive side Petra Schwab, Kary Hintz and Karen Boyd were the standouts. The M.V.P. of the year went to fullback Shanelle Rein. She was chosen by her team mates.

"Even though their record was not that good it didn't reflect how good they really were."

The friendship of these girls made a devoted team. Most of these girls will probably return next year even better. "I can't wait to recruit them next year," said varsity coach Miss Ruth L. Dane.

The team had daily practices usually held between 2:15 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. at either the Herndon Community Center or the courts at the high school. These practices mainly consisted of a variety of drills and practice volleys. The efforts put forth by the players was shown throughout their victories against McLean, Washington and Lee, and their slaughter of the Marshall girls' team. Coach Glenn should be excited with his team's performance considering the youth of his Varsity squad. Out of the six Varsity competitors, four will be returning to the

Boys' Schedule Proves Tough

by Todd Cerino

The boy's Varsity Basketball Team lacked a crucial element necessary to excel. At the onset of the season the players knew it would be a long and hard-fought schedule, without height the team was forced to rely on its speed, agility and skill.

The first seven games of the boys schedule were played against teams from outside the district. Following this the boys entered in the Seahawk Classic Tournament and finished second place, behind arch-rival South Lakes.

The championship game was decided in the final minutes by a number of foul shots that South Lakes made. After this tournament the team resumed regular district play. The boys showed vast improvement as they waltzed through their district schedule surprising many opponents with their tenacious play and shooting. The team's determination to succeed helped them to capture victories throughout these games and showed that they were not to be considered "underdogs."

The height that the Varsity Basketball Team lacked this year will undoubtedly be filled by the players graduating from the Junior Varsity level. This team had five players that stood over 6'1". Their height added to the team's advantage over their district opponents.

The J.V. team opened up it's season with hard fought games outside district play. The J.V. team bounced back to form to complete their regular season with a rather sound ending and was regarded as one of the top teams in the district at the J.V. level. Victories came easy over such teams as Langley and Yorktown. These teams were beaten at the hands of our J.V. squad by eighteen and thirty points respectively. The success that the J.V. team has enjoyed came as a pleasant surprise. When asked to reflect on his team's season Tim Landefeld commented, "Our team has had a lot to prove

Lady Hornets Look Ahead

The girls Varsity organization was fully aware that this year was going to be a rebuilding year. The girls had to overcome the fact that they were a small team. This put them at a disadvantage throughout the season. The strategy used was to utilize the quickness and speed that the team possessed and develop ball handling skills during practice.

One of the interesting aspects of the team was that there was not one dominant player but rather every victory was the result of a total team effort. Nikki Moody was the teams leading scorer and was complemented by the talents of Anita Bailey and Amy Nelson at the guard positions. Rena Smith played forward and Sarah Fleig undertook the center spot. The record the girls acquired at the end of their district play is not a good indication of the talent found within the team. Kristina Kuehner said of the season, "We were really a good team when we wanted to be but a lot of the time we just couldn't manage to pull it together." This attitude seems to reflect the basic view of all the players

GU Women Lose

The University of Connecticut's women beat Georgetown, 75-64, last night at Georgetown. The Huskies are 8-4 overall and 1-1 in the Big East. The Hoyas are 3-7 and 0-1.

Connecticut's 19-4 spurt midway through the second half decided the game. The Huskies were led by Renee Napienka's 17 points and 10 rebounds. Chris Lamb had 14 points.

The Hoyas were led by Beth Knight's 22 points. Sophomore Erin Breeslin had 15 scoring. Against FIU, Jaron Jac scored a career-high 21 points. Sophomore guard Mark Tillman scored 36 points in the last games, including a career-high against Miami. Tillman is team's leading scorer at 13.8, just behind Perry McDonald's 14.1 is Charles Smith at 12.3.

During the course of the season Thompson has hoped his guard would start taking big shots at key points. Saturday, his back court apparently heard that a Miami assistant coach questioned Georgetown inside game. And Thompson saw Sunday on his weekly television that it was "the greatest thing in the world that could happen." His back court came out fired up.

Girls Regarded as Tops

by Todd Cerino

The Girls Junior Varsity Basketball Team had an outstanding season this year. The girls, despite losing to Woodson in their first match, exploded onto the district scene. The team's record shows them to have won by substantial margins in most of their victories including a 61-20 trouncing of Washington/Lee. The girls J.V. teams are traditionally composed of inexperienced players who just play for fun. This year however, the girls dismantled that stereotype showing that along with having fun, they were out to capture victories as well. The team showed great poise and skill throughout the year and were led by standout Eveline Bussie.

Coach Kirby says of her team, "I think that this is one of the best girls J.V. teams that we have ever had here at Herndon." The girls on this J.V. team worked extremely hard in practice after school and gained confidence with each consecutive win during the season. The Junior Varsity team practices consisted of many drills designed to improve ball handling and shooting skills. All the

Although wrestling is not a popular spectator sport at Herndon, it is one of the toughest and most demanding sports offered to student athletes. The Varsity team is comprised of athletes who have refined their skills and techniques to the point where they can compete at competiyear's squad. Kurt McHenry suffered one loss in his district season at the Sterling Lion's Tournament and received the sportsmanship award. Since wrestling is such a physical sport it is no wonder that there is much training involved in developing the wrestlers. The Workouts consisted of a set routine which followed a pattern of exercises called "stretch and roll," matches, drills, more matches, exercises called "cats," pull-ups, then running. This

oming On Strong J.V. Wrestling Wins Out of 9 Matches

by Anne Bannerman

The J.V. Wrestling team came on strong winning eight out of their nine matches. The team worked hard by practicing almost daily since the fall. Coach Bob Hand of the Varsity team remarked, "They performed well, using what they learned and practiced. They don't have to win, but they do have to wrestle and give their effort." The new J.V. coach this year was George Richey. He wrestled for Herndon, placing fifth in the state his Senior year. He was in a unique position to coach because he went through the same program and understood the requirements and expectations. The most outstanding wrestlers were Ross Dolgoff, Chuck Green, Chris Hoffman and Matt Hoffman just to name a few. They all worked together as a team and each wrestler showed per-

Four days a week the team practiced at the Reston Community Center from 3:15 PM 'til 5:00 PM. The first half hour was composed of a variety of exercises land stretches, including work with surgical tubing; this was followed by an hour and 15 minute workout in the

The team worked hard, and subsequently earned a 6-1 season. Both the boys and girls teams continued their impressive seasons in districts. The boys won the district title and the girls earned 3rd place. This is the first time in 10 years that the swim

The Ultimate Goal

Combing Strategy and Skill

by Todd Cerino

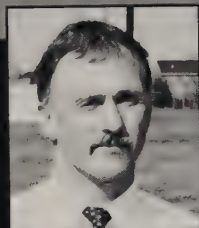

Varsity boy's soccer has made a transition from a sport of little importance to a glamorous sport. This change was due in part by the overwhelming success of the past year's teams. Two years ago the boys won the state championship and last year the team reached the district tournament semi-finals.

The boy's varsity soccer team gains its skill and teamwork through practice. These practices include many drills and game-like situations. This year, coach Scott Mack has put an emphasis on cardiovascular conditioning due to co-captains Sean Moriarity and Kevin Flannigan's request. The philosophy is simple: the better condition a team is the longer and harder they will be able to play.

Standout leaders on the team include midfielders Kevin Flannigan, Sean Moriarity and Tim Ryan, commonly known as the "Irish Mafia." The job of these players is to contain the ball and keep constant pressure on the opponent. On offense, James Kerkula and Chris Pearson provided a strong attack throughout the season. James is a three year starter and played on the state championship team.

Defensively, the Hornets had a mixture of odd and new faces. Senior Robbie Flint utilized his experience and speed to prevent opposing offensive threats. He was complimented by fellow Senior Chris Rotchford and Sophomores David Betzel and Brian Kirchdorfer. The goalie

Varsity's Future Lies With Underclass Stars

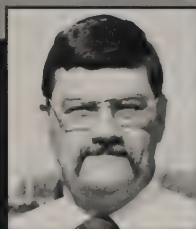

By Todd Cerino

The members of the girls varsity soccer team can look back on this season and be thoroughly pleased. Reasons for this include a successful season of competition this year and the abundance of youth that can be found on the team.

The girls season opened up with six non-district games and handled this unfamiliar competition very well. In the opening game of the season the team was pitted against last year's Northern Region Champs, Annandale.

On offense the team was led by returning sweeper Jackie Gillespie. Jackie was complemented well by the talents and speed of Tish Holliman and Chrissie Livingstone at the wing positions who established many scoring opportunities throughout the season.

A great season considering the team was so young and inexperienced.

— Coach Coughlin

The team looks in great shape for next year and should improve with time with all of the newly recruited players. Look out for the girl's soccer team future years.

A New Dimension

With renovated field Varsity senses victory

by Todd Cerino

The season of the Varsity Baseball team was summarized by the phrase "a new look." Last year's graduation left many positions on the team up for grabs. This created competition among the upcoming players to earn the position they desired. Also, the home field received a renovation. The whole infield was resurfaced and the field dimensions were increased by moving home plate farther back.

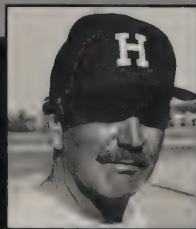

When the players were asked how they felt about the new field they expressed mixed views. Dwight Walker when speaking of the change, commented, "With the fence so far out now, there will be fewer home runs hit and the games will be decided on overall team strategy." However, when senior Jamie Wiles was asked he commented, "The change in the dimensions could hurt our team when we play at home because if we're down by a few runs it will be much harder to come back and win from behind."

Even though the team didn't play on the new field until the latter part of the season the coaches showed their enthusiasm and excitement ment on the field once it was opened for play.

Jeff, Grimm, a senior on the team, said of the players, "We are a very large team physically and this should help us to cope with the new dimensions." With the returning lettermen from this year and the upcoming Junior Varsity players the future looks bright for next year's team.

J.V. Baseball and Softball teams score big.

by Jon Cocks

It is a hot, dusty day. The score is tied and it is the end of the 9th inning. Both the batter and pitcher have their teams hopes and fears riding on their shoulders. Some might call that a tense and scary moment, but to the J.V. players of our baseball and softball teams, it is commonplace.

The intense training during the end of winter and early spring prepares each player for just such a moment. The coaches give their speeches, and run their practices hoping that their kids will never be in a do or die situation. Inevitably though it happens and all too often. Already boy's J.V. Baseball has come down to the line in two games that ended in ties. The first was only a scrimmage against Robinson. The second, the first game of the season, ended with a tie to Robert E. Lee. Although last season's record was an impressive 9 wins and 9 losses, it wasn't good enough for the coaches or the players. The 9 losses were accredited as Sophomore and veteran baseball player Tim Landefeld commented, "We just didn't have enough good pitchers to keep us rolling." With the added experience of returning veteran players and the youth and morale of new players, boy's J.V. baseball is expected to greatly improve their record this time around.

Furthermore the girl's softball team looks in good shape. The morale is high and the girls are anxiously awaiting a good season. Already the team has proved their worth, beating Annan-

The tennis team certainly had a lot going for it. Top seeded Aaron Walker made a continuous effort as the dominating victor. Second seeded Peter Markham also added a strong influence to the team. When Aaron Walker was asked why he played tennis, he replied, "It gives me a self-satisfaction, a feeling of succeeding at something you're good at." I'm sure all of us feel that way about certain things.

Track team's goal: to repeat as champions

by Todd Cerino

Both the boy's and girl's outdoor track teams once again proved that they were a power on the district level. Riding a wave of confidence which stemmed from their district win on the Indoor Track circuit, the boy's posted impressive victories during district meets and regional invitationals.

The boy's and girl's both had good depth and well rounded teams but were led throughout the year by certain standout individuals. Acie Slade is run and Skye is ranked 10th in the 800m. run) Both of these girls will return to next year's team

Between the two teams there is a great deal of unity. This is an aspect greatly emphasized by head Coach Jim Oliver. Coach Oliver has the boys and girls practice together and encourages camaraderie among the team members. The practices are held after school every day in rain or shine from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Types of workouts vary with the individual. For the sprinters and jumpers workouts are held exclusively on the track. For the longer distance runners however, workouts often require running on the roads or the bike path. Discus throwers, shot-putters and pole vaulters like the the All-American performer on the boy's team. He proved his worth by placing 6th at nationals in the 55m. hurdles.

On the girl's side Alexa Lange and Skye Eddy proved to be the girls' main forces. Both of these girls have posted All-American times this year which significantly boosted the team's performance (Alexa is ranked 5th in the nation in the 300m.

sprinters practice on the track also. These practices prepare the individual for competition while at the same time improve endurance and strength.

Next year the boys and girls track teams should continue their winning ways as only a handful of seniors will be graduating. With the depth that the underclassmen provide a district championship for either team is not too far out of reach.

heerleaders, Boosting Morale Promoting School Spirit

by Catherine Brand

During the football season the cheerleaders cheered the football team to a 6 to 4 record. They jumped and shouted their cheers with all their energy to the crowd, in hopes of peppering them up. To some, cheering may seem like an easy sport to do, but in all reality, cheerleaders put in hours and hours of preparation time, in-coached by Mrs. Shook and Mrs. Fielder, helped to bring out school spirit even more. In addition, to practicing at least 2 days after school a week, the cheerleaders participated in pep rallies, several fund raisers and summer clinics. "The purpose of cheerleading is to involve the crowd. It's really enjoyable and competitive to be able to get the crowd's attention," stated Brook Johnson, one of the several cheerleaders on the Junior Varsity team.

In each major sport, as in football and basketball there are three categories: Var-

We felt that one of our primary goals in the last half of the year, was to change the image of cheerleading from a club to a sport. We are moving closer to that goal."

Coaches Fielder + Shook

cluding strenuous jumps and precise cheers, as well as cooperation, courtesy, and patience. Cheerleading also takes a good attitude and a lot of spirit. Getting up in front of a crowd of people and cheering so hard your lungs hurt is not an easy thing to do.

The Varsity team headed by captains Gina Paone and Stephanie Betzel, and freshmen, Junior Varsity and Freshmen. Therefore, we have a group of cheerleaders for each of the three teams to cheer them on to victory. The cheerleaders were looked upon highly and are a big supporter of the school.

If one thing can be said about the community in which we live regarding the year covered in this volume it is this. This was the year that our town of Herndon and its environs came into its own. It was a year when new residential prosperity, growth and expansion — a year when the town reached its goals in development, education and maintaining a thriving atmosphere. The year when even more, for the construction of all possible projects which would make our town a more vibrant and successful community. The year when the town's growth and development was truly a reality.

replaced by Audrey Moore, a proponent of slower growth. On her behalf she also brought in Linda Richards, now supervisor for the Dranesville district of which Herndon is part. The development of the downtown portion of town also became closer to reality. Major challenges faced the town planners in combining historic preservation or architectural themes with future development. The town's growth was truly a reality. The year when the town's growth and development was truly a reality. The year when the town's growth and development was truly a reality. # PIZZA TYME SALUTES

Congratulations to the class of 1988 and the members of our Pizza Tyme staff who have brought the area's finest pizza to our community. Consider joining us in a fun job offering good pay, and a rewarding job experience.

303 Spring Street
Herndon, Virginia 22070
481-9300

Honeywell is proud to be a Partner in Education with Herndon High School

From Franklin Farm. . . .to Great Falls EVERYONE is reading The Herndon OBSERVER because no other area newspaper is quite like it.

The reason is simple: We write only about YOU and the subjects that interest you—your community, your schools, your business, your kids, and sometimes, even your dogs!

The Herndon OBSERVER

Serving Herndon, Reston, Sterling and Great Falls since 1976

437-5886

We're proud of our record!

McDonald's of Herndon Congratulates:

The Class of 1988

Dave Edwards gets ready for the next Big Mac Attack.

Dwayne Bailey makes some of those famous McDonald's fries.

"Can I take your order?" asks Brad Reid, assistant manager, working the Drive-In Window

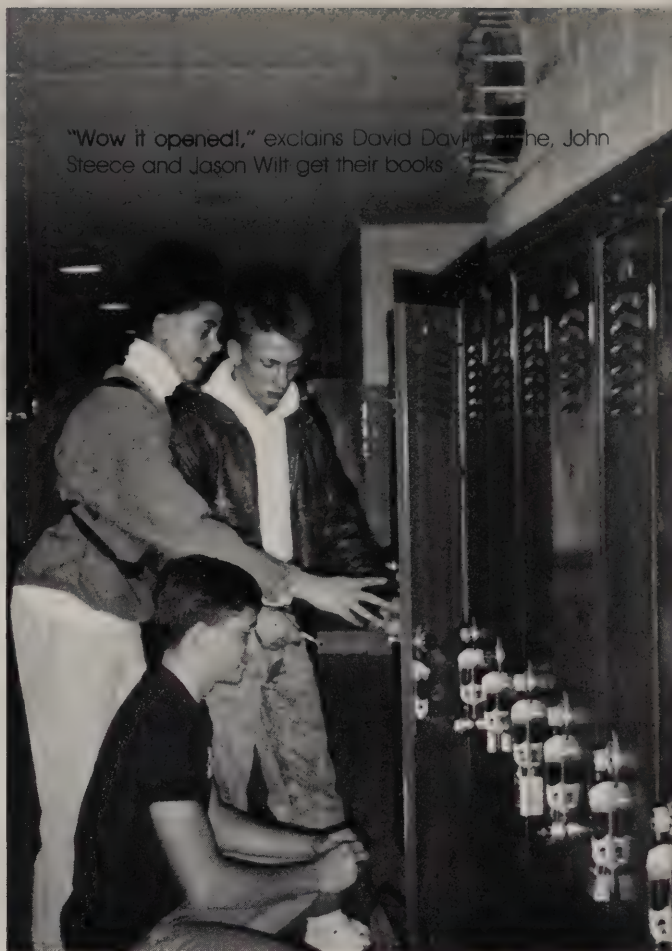

Buffy Balut, Christina Bridges & Beca Breen cheer along with Stephanie Johnson, Homet Mascot, at our first Football Pep Rally.

"Wow it opened!" exclaims David Davison as he, John Steece and Jason Wilt get their books

Colophon

The 1988 Hornet was published by the students of Herndon High School's Photojournalism class. Our theme "Odd and Even" was suggested by Karen McEwen and David Getson after many hours of brainstorming. The cover was a group effort designed by the class. The fireworks picture was taken by Peter Gridley, professional photographer of Reston, Va.

The Hornet is printed by Hunter Publishing Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27113. All the technical work in preparation of the pages for printing was done in North Carolina. The local representative for Hunter was Alex Blackwell, of Occoquan, Va.

The Senior, Underclass, and faculty portraits were produced by Robert Charles Studios of Rockville, Maryland.

Our book measures 9 x 12 inches and is printed on white gloss enamel, 80 lb. paper using black ink. The cover was produced using the lithograph process in four color. Style sheets for the entire book were designed by Hayden Camp, except for dividers which were designed by Lisa Miscio. Headlines were set in Avant extra light, Avant Bold and Ventura Script in 48 point. Subheadlines were in Avant extra light and Ventura Script 36 point. Body text is 10 point. Avant extra light. The Student life section was accented with a dropped character in the headlines. The Hornet is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, National Scholastic Press Association, Virginia High School League, and Southern Interscholastic Press Association. Our '87 book received four first place ratings in each judging except Southern Interscholastic Press Assoc. for which we received a first place for Excellence in Design Planning.

We invite other yearbook staffs, students, and community to correspond with us. We can be reached at Herndon High School, 700 Bennett Street, Herndon, Virginia 22070. Visitors may see our production setup in Room 138. We can also be reached by phone: (703) 437-6800 extension 231.

The Seniors were all excited about the beach day picture.

The Year That Was A Blend of Odd And Even

It was an unusual year, if it was anything! The arrival of a new principal, William Caudill, whose optimistic outlook produced excellent results in what some were saying was an aging building. He began by sprucing the school up with a new paint job and with lots of revisions and improvements in the facilities and equipment, like the new weight training room. With these and other changes, things were really looking up.

In a year that started out odd in many ways, with overcrowding and new and uncertain ideas, it ended pretty even. Greater stability was observed in the academic atmosphere and improvements in the sports scene, especially with our new Varsity Football Team. We achieved National Merit Semi-Finalists.

Other accomplishments included district championships in Cross Country, Indoor Track, Boys Swimming, Girl's J.V. Basketball and Drama, along with with a student government that appeared to be on the move.

Prom as always was the special social event of the year. Once again the Juniors and Seniors held the event at the Ramada Renaissance. Spending hours upon hours in making up combined with incredible amounts of money managed to make the evening a memorable one. As graduation approached, students could sense that the end was finally within their reach. What made this year really special was that instead of holding the event in the Griffiths Stadium as was the tradition, the class of '88 selected

George Mason's Patriot Center as the setting for this year's commencement. Not since the days of our brief fling with holding graduation at Wolftrap in the early 70's had we gone off campus for the event. This represented another near first, for the class of '88.

All this made up our treasured memories of this year that was. It was a year in which many of us grew up, and saw our community grow up. We will treasure this carefully tucked back into the corners of our hearts and minds.

Though we now go our separate ways into the future that will indeed present many challenges and rewards, we can look back on the past friendships, kind faces and memories that make up the rich quilt of which we are all a part.
